Time Inefficiency:

- CITES permit application and processing process
- Verification of CITES permits requested by other Parties
- Generating of CITES Annual Report

Bureaucracy in the traceability aspect of each trade (cross-checking the use of annual export quotas, transfer passes, status of importing/exporting countries, breeding operators etc.)

The existing system is exposed to the risk of falsification of CITES permit documents by irresponsible parties; increased risk of illegal wildlife trade.

WAY FORWARD

- Implementation of Project: Malaysia electronic CITES permitting system (MyCITES)
- 12th Malaysia Plan: Improving Government Administration and Operational Efficiency Strategy - Expanding Digitalisation Initiatives - Measures will be undertaken to expand end-to-end online services to provide greater accessibility and convenience for the people
- Increase transparency in the management of CITES permits
- Improving the traceability aspect of each trade (cross-checking the use of annual export quotas, transfer passes, status of importing/exporting countries, breeding operators etc.)
- Reduce the risk of fraud and illegal wildlife trade activities
- Increasing the country's competitiveness in international trade through the facilitation of trade
- Hope to learn best practices in development of electronic CITES Permits according to international standard
